Putting Out The Welcome Mat

COUNCIL CHAMBERS BANNOCKBURN & ONLINE | 10:00AM - 12:30PM

When our communities and the world around us change, as community-based groups, it's important we take stock of what we are doing and how we are responding to those changes, especially the way they are impacting the community we are here to support.

People's lives are different. These differences in their work habits and personal pursuits mean the way they interact with others around them, and our groups is also different; as is the way we respect and work with differences. This session is about having a good rethink about how we engage and welcome different groups and people as well as how we can open our doors wider and embrace these rapid changes. Topics include:

- Revisiting the group's purpose
- Understanding the benefits of being a welcoming group
- Appreciating the variety of people in our community who may like to join their group and don't work 'normal' hours
- Exploring what can be done to be more open and flexible
- Uncovering tools and tactics that can facilitate (and 'open up') opportunities
